

Short on Data Automation expertise to manage your Verify integrations? We've got you covered.

Managed Integration Services from Verify

Organizations have turned to integration to maximize their return on technology investments. But, for many companies, the Data Admins and Business Automators that support go-to-market teams are strapped for time and app-specific expertise, stifling progress on integration projects, migrations and onboarding of new apps. And for integrations that have already launched, there are limited resources to maintain them.

The US talent shortage is at a 10-year high. In tech alone, the US faces the possibility of losing $162 billion in revenue due to the lack of skilled tech talent. In the UK, 70% of tech employers say they are experiencing skills shortages.

Use Verify Integration Experts

If you too have been impacted, Verify's Managed Integration Services can help alleviate some of this burden for you. Our integration experts will manage and maintain your Verify integrations. We'll assign an expert to identify, diagnose, and troubleshoot potential errors and proactively monitor your Verify integrations to ensure uptime. And, they will recommend best practices, install updates, and optimize integration performance.
